Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheums tism because they supply the necessary elements to the vitiated blood and enable nature to cast out the impurities and effect a cure. Mrs. A. Baker, of No.
119 Fitch street, Syracuse, N. Y., will furnish living evidence of the truth of this statement. "There has been rheumatism in my family ever since I can re-matism in my family eversince I can remember," she says. "My grandmother was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism and my mother also had the disease in a mild form. About a year ago I had a hard cold and rheumatism caught me in my left knee. There were sharp pains, confined to the neighborhood of the knee and they seemed to go right into the bone. The pain I suffered was intense and I also had dizzy spells. "The doctors called my trouble mratic and sciatic rheumatism. When I didn't get better under their treatment my brother-in-law suggested that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought three boxes, and, by the time I had taken them, the pain and dizziness had entirely left me. I wanted to make sure of a cure so I bought three more boxes, but I didn't take quite all of them as I found that I was entirely cured.

"Before I took the pills the pain was so severe that I had to cry at times and when I was cured I was so thankful and grateful and I am glad to recommend them to every one who suffers with rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of ansemia, sciatica, nervous-ness, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia and St. Vitus' dance that have not re-sponded to other modes of treatment. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per-box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Wil-liams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A SELF-SPACING FRAME.

Plan in Use by a Cuban Beekeeper-Not Favored by Editor of Bee Journal.

In the accompanying illustration is hown a new end-bar for the Hoffman frame. I have used them in my aplary for the last three years, writes C. E. Woodward, of Matanzas, Cuba, and they have given the best of satisfaction. I have never yet broken one of hem, and they space just as accuratey at the bottom as at the top, and no one can fall to nail them correctly. I made my end-bars one-half inch thick; thus the wire never sags and buckles

In speaking of the frame the editor

PLAN OF THE SELF-SPACING FRAME. of Gleanings in Bee Culture frankly declares he does not like it, saying: believe it is always a mistake to have the spacing in the hive-rabbet. The free lateral movement back and forth, of frames, where the spacers are on the frames themselves, is a feature we can not afford to sacrifice. Your frame would be far better, in my opinion, if you would use the spacingbutton (same as you have at the botom) at the top also. Such a frame would not be a bad one to handle This exact form of a frame was made the subject of a patent a number of years ago, but I believe the patent has

There is another objection to your actched rabbet that occurs to me; and that is, in moving bees your frames would be liable to hop out of the aotches, making very unequal spacing at the top. When the spacers are on the end-bars or top-bars the frames always have to be just so far apart.

BARN DOOR LATCH.

Convenient Contrivance Which Is an Improvement Over the One-Piece Lever.

A latch for barn doors is shown in the accompanying illustration. The details of construction are given plainly in the picture. The piece A works vertically behind an iron strip and catches behind a cleat fastened to the timber above the door. It should be long enough to be reached from the floor. It is manipulated by the lever B. This should be heavy enough to overbal-ance the weight of the piece marked There is a pin in the door below the level to keep the latter from falling below. The advantage of this latch over the one-piece swinging An Asheville man tells how right lever, says the Orange Judd Farmer, is that it never swings out where it would be in the way. THINGS TO REMEMBER.

Good corn and more of it should be our motto this year.

Plain people like plain parsley, but curly parsley pleases particular people. Redtop does well on soils which are acid and has the preference over timothy for such soils. Improvement in fruits and cultivated

SURE HARBINGER OF SPRING

An Infallible Sign Is the Sassafras Ten of the Country Grandmother.

"Why some people put their money on the groundhog when seeking signs of the coming of spring, I never knew," said a man wise in his own conceit. "For a good many years I have read bout the boy with a top, or with marbles, as being surer harbingers of the vernal season than the advent of the robin or the budding of the crocus, but don't put more faith in either than in the groundhog. "I have seen boys spinning tops in New York for the last three months. Of course, the past winter has been out of the ordinary run. To see tops, however, is no indication that fish are getting hungry. "The marble in the city is not a sign of bluebirds. Not by a long flight. And don't know when I ever saw a boy roll a boop in Manhattan. That used to be a sign of spring.

"The city boy, of course, knows nothing about resurrecting fish bait. In the country the first fishing worm is a sure pointer that the backbone of winter has been strained.

"It is in the home in the country, where there is a watchful grandmother and several children, that the best sign of spring is found. I do not know where grandmother gets her prescience, but it is unerring.

"At the very first rising of the sap, in fact, before vegetation feels the first thrill of renewing life, the grandmother has the intimation. When she makes sassafras tea, then indeed do you know that spring is nigh.

"Occasionally you will find a street peddler in the city with bunches of sassafras bark for sale, and you may have noticed that such peddlers are not of the ordinary type.

"The sassafras dealer on the streets is always a motherly looking woman with an apron and a bonnet that is never seen in the shops, or a paternal looking individual who has chin whiskers. Country appearances and sassafras go together.

"If I were making a book on the weather-spring weather-I would hike to the country and wait for the grandmother to steep her sassafras for tea. Then I would jump back to the city and make predictions that would cause the weather man to quit his job and find other means of livelihood."

WOMAN'S EXTRAVAGANCE.

Set Forth in Writing, by One Who Must Have Been a Man, Long Ago.

An antiquary was chuckling over an article on extravagance in dress. "A man wrote this, I'll warrant," he said. 'Men are always writing such things. See what a man wrote in 1630 of a certain Miss Phraser's gown."

And he read from his notebook: "This lovely rich gown, of the best brocade, much bejewelled and embroidered, cost £330. It frights Sir Cave Scroope, who is much in love with her. from marrying her, saying his estate will scarce maintain her in clothes." He turned another page:

"Mme. de Montespan," he real, wore at a great court festival a gown of gold on gold, embroidered in gold, bordered with gold, and over that a gold frieze stitched with a certain gold which makes the most divine stuff imaginable. But why deck out the hu-

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines.

They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances.

The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co.-printed on the front of every package.

They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name-" Syrup of Figs"-or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co.-printed on the front of the package. The initiations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and

and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness.

Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company-

California Fig Syrup Co .- printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices

Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.
